WHY HAWAI'I?

Hawai'i has been identified as a strategic location for artists and for Pacific writing, with numerous universities, library resources, networks, writers' forums and publishers. It is also an important link to mainland United States and has a flourishing indigenous culture. The resident is hosted by the Center for Pacific Islands Studies at the University of Hawai'i, Mānoa campus.

AIMS OF THE AWARD

The primary aim is for the writer to work on an approved project at the University of Hawai'i. The writer is also actively encouraged to make use of the strategic benefits of the residency, which may include any of the following:

- the impact of a new physical environment on the writer's work;
- the cross-fertilisation of ideas resulting from mixing with residents of another culture;
- professional development opportunities: e.g. invitations to give lectures and interviews; making contacts with suitable agents and publishers;
- contributing to the development of New Zealand Pacific literature; or
- creating links with Hawai'ian writers, academics and local communities.

OBJECTIVES

By the end of the residency, the writer will be expected to have completed a significant amount of writing, as described in the application, and should be able to demonstrate tangible benefits to New Zealand Pacific literature.

A final report following the residency must be provided within one month of return to New Zealand. This report will serve as an important resource for Creative New Zealand and Fulbright New Zealand, and will help build a picture of what this residency is achieving.

- The Fulbright goal of educational and cultural exchange to increase mutual understanding between the peoples of New Zealand and the United States, and the ambassadorial qualities of applicant
- Alignment with the Creative New Zealand strategic priority: "High Quality Pacific art is developed by New Zealand Pacific artists" and "high quality New Zealand artists are supported".

TIMEFRAME

- Applications close midday Monday 23 March 2026 (NZ time).
- Shortlisted applicants will be interviewed in April.
- The successful applicant will be notified shortly thereafter and asked to ensure confidentiality until further notice, and informed that the award offer is conditional on Foreign Scholarship Board (FSB) approval in the US.
- The residency will run for a 3-month period between February and May 2027 (U.S. Spring Semester).

ACCOMMODATION

The resident writer shall liaise with the Center for Pacific Islands Studies to identify and secure appropriate accommodation in close proximity to the Center. The resident writer will decide what accommodation they will reside in, and will have responsibility for paying for that accommodation. Fulbright New Zealand shall provide NZ$11,000 to the resident writer towards accommodation costs.

EVALUATION

On the completion of the residency, Creative New Zealand and Fulbright New Zealand will conduct an evaluation and will take into account the following:
